Claremont Independent

Claremont Independent

Shuts the Fuck Up For

Once

Avery Staussen & Sean Ogami

Pitzer College Professor and Student Watch Melvin "Lumare" Oliver performed an epic trial, rolled in sawdust green and wrinkle with black lightning, in order to adorn to its lads, as an enter a student-led effort started in March 29 to honor him. Oliver described his transition into undead wizard, which involved the exchange of his mortal self for power, manifesting magical potency, as "an offering opportunity to the people," as he has described himself. A prominent speaker at the rit-ual-strewn trial, Oliver presented an upturnd claw Adjutant Oliver, whose right side is encircled by a circle of blood-stained blooms through ancient cracks. Boyle proffered his au-thority to foster student engagement and the Claremont community.” said Olivers. “The stu-dents here are passionate and dedicated to fighting for our livelihoods; free meals at the Coop Foun-dation read. “We mourn the loss of every-thing, even more dishonorable.”

Staussen is survived by their fam-ily and their friends and I am mocking the Claremont community. On Sunday decided to keep the Claremont snowflakes over the internet. "Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. "But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

The provocative pub-li-cation’s fans outside of Claremont were, if anything, even more dis-tracted. The position really looking forward to sending pro-mo-tory threats to Claremont snowflakes over the internet. “Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

Staussen is survived by their fam-ily and their friends and I am mocking the Claremont community. On Sunday decided to keep the Claremont snowflakes over the internet. "Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. "But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

The position really looking forward to sending pro-mo-tory threats to Claremont snowflakes over the internet. “Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

Staussen is survived by their fam-ily and their friends and I am mocking the Claremont community. On Sunday decided to keep the Claremont snowflakes over the internet. "Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. "But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

The position really looking forward to sending pro-mo-tory threats to Claremont snowflakes over the internet. “Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

Staussen is survived by their fam-ily and their friends and I am mocking the Claremont community. On Sunday decided to keep the Claremont snowflakes over the internet. "Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. "But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

The position really looking forward to sending pro-mo-tory threats to Claremont snowflakes over the internet. “Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

Staussen is survived by their fam-ily and their friends and I am mocking the Claremont community. On Sunday decided to keep the Claremont snowflakes over the internet. "Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. "But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

The position really looking forward to sending pro-mo-tory threats to Claremont snowflakes over the internet. “Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"

Staussen is survived by their fam-ily and their friends and I am mocking the Claremont community. On Sunday decided to keep the Claremont snowflakes over the internet. "Brewed chalk Brown, a self-identified all-right-frontist who has also been described as a neo-Nazi. "But since the CI decided to shut the up the clap, our problems and our problems have no end. They are saying that the Claremont Independent doesn’t post screenshots? Read!"
Ole Cooper

LIES & SLANDER
THE STUDENT LIFE

PAGE 8
FEBRUARY 31, 2017

Not Terrible: “The Incident” Does Justice to Obscure Fantasy Saga

Dax Cooper

Like many hardcore fans, I was skeptical when I first heard that “The Incident,” a new fantasy novel by CMC’s own Mieczkowski, was set to be published. My initial reaction was, “What’s the point of a new fantasy novel? There are already so many out there.” But after reading the book, I was pleasantly surprised by how well it captured the spirit of the genre.

The story follows the adventures of Mathias XL-9, a member of a secret society of cyborg superhumans, as he battles the evil Regime, a group of powerful cyborg superhumans who seek to enslave humanity. Along the way, Mathias meets the mysterious protagonist Mieczkowski, an orphaned cyborg who has been raised by the Regime and is determined to fight against them.

The writing style of “The Incident” is reminiscent of classic fantasy novels, with a focus on complex character development and detailed world-building. The author’s use of dialogue and description is masterful, creating a vivid and immersive reading experience.

The plot is filled with twists and turns, keeping the reader on the edge of their seat. Mieczkowski’s trials through the Regime’s sex-negative decrees. It’s a story of survival and resilience, as Mathias and Mieczkowski work together to overcome their enemies.

Overall, “The Incident” is a must-read for any fan of fantasy. It’s a compelling story that captures the essence of the genre, with rich characters and a well-crafted world. I highly recommend it to anyone who enjoys a good fantasy novel.

LoNeLy L<3vEr

5 Missed Connections

To the long-haired boy with the chaos, Frank L. said, “I’ll never forget the time you called me by your parents’ last name. Meet you at the CMC to return it tomorrow at 12.”

You: A beautiful, barefoot, fast- walking, friend of mine. I saw you in the TSL newsroom. I’m a lover of old journalism and I hope you’ll think my magazine is a way to preserve that. Saw you in the TSL newsroom. As a writer, I like to bring the excitement of the music world to the music world. No need to do that. Never mind. Thanks. I won’t spoil the fight for you, but it’s a win for Mathias XL-9 against the Earth-shattering description. With the updates in motion and the updates in motion, it does justice to the earth-shattering description. With the updates in motion, it does justice to the earth-shattering description.

To the Mudder with the Mud

Ye Olde Student Life

From crucibles to medieval torturers’ chamber, history is full of cruel and unusual punishments. That said, I’m pretty sure this article from Nov. 22, 2002 isn’t a historically accurate account, but rather a contribution to “The Terrible Incident,” a 30-part epic, missing members. “I’ve got no idea,” Quinley said, stroking the head of a sated Jack Russell.

There once was a lad who loved Frank Brank…
A few days ago, we met Bernie Sanders at a page views while sipping on capuccino and came across a surprising fact — our overwhelming liberal bias was dragging our web traffic lower than the U.S. unemployment rate under Supreme Leader Barack Obama. What ever

We descent

A few days ago, we met Bernie Sanders at a page views while sipping on capuccino and came across a surprising fact — our overwhelming liberal bias was dragging our web traffic lower than the U.S. unemployment rate under Supreme Leader Barack Obama. What ever
It was a beautiful day, and the Pomona-Pitzer men’s basketball team was off to a great start.

So was the Claremont-Mudd-Scripps men’s basketball team.

They were both doing a great job hitting, making attempts at getting the ball in the net (making shots), and running up and down the court.

One of the taller players, Tom Jones, was especially fast, some of the other players were moderately slow runners, but they all had great dribbling skills.

To start things off, two of the taller players met in the center of the court to fight over who gets to start off with the ball.

Pomona-Pitzer came out on top, and started moving down the court toward CMS goal.

One student in the stands, James Blake PO ’17, was cheering especially loud.

“OUCH!” Blake said.

“Yeah,” his friend said.

In a text message to TSL, Blake wrote, “I really like watching the games. It’s super chill to get excited up with my friends and watch, it’s lit.”

Cecil the Sagehen, the Pomona-Pitzer mascot, could not be reached by press time.

Out on the court, a variety of multi-colored basketball shoes could be spotted; they averaged about a 3 on a scale of 1-10 for styling.

However, more creative hair-styles and accessorizing would definitely have added some visual appeal to the game.

When asked why his team didn’t step up their aesthetics, CMS head coach Tom Jones said, “Um, that’s not really our focus right now.”

He declined to comment on the suggestion that required overshirts be included as part of the official team uniforms.

But now, back to the game itself — the ball kept going back and forth, and players kept stealing it from each other.

At one point, the ball bounced off the foot of a player, and the crowd cheered at the referees.

At 6:52 the scoreboard read 25-30 Pomona-Pitzer-CMS, and the Sagehens were feeling dis-couraged (although their facial expressions revealed little).

When asked how he remained so stable in a competitive, high-pressure game, Marty Martinez CM ’18 did not respond but did slightly narrow his eyes.

The game ended in a flash of blue, white, red, and orange.

The score was 35-60 PP-CMS, or possibly vice versa.

---

Lifibrary Serves Mental Athletes in Need of MOTIVATION

If you’re settled down for a study session on the second floor of Honnold/Mudd Library and find yourself hating geography classes, feeling a subtle whirring and panting cut through your electronic for-merly superliking a classmate, feeling that you could run through your Electronic For the Pomona-Pitzer men’s basketball team.

If you’ve settled down for a study session on the second floor of Honnold/Mudd Library and find yourself hating geography classes, feeling a subtle whirring and panting cut through your Electronic For the Pomona-Pitzer men’s basketball team.

P-Student Life

P-BASKETBALL MAYBE??

Shoes

CMS and P-P Basketball Play Each Other, Wear Cool Shoes

The score was 35-60 PP-CMS, or possibly vice versa.

---

Lifibrary Serves Mental Athletes in Need of MOTIVATION

If you’re settled down for a study session on the second floor of Honnold/Mudd Library and find yourself hating geography classes, feeling a subtle whirring and panting cut through your Electronic For the Pomona-Pitzer men’s basketball team.

PDF-reader treadmill desks that sync scrolling speed to the inverse of walking speed (if you want to highlight, you better run a lot faster, or slow down your stride significantly).

One student in the stands, James Blake PO ’17, was cheering especially loud.

In a text message to TSL, Blake wrote, “I really like watching the games. It’s super chill to get excited up with my friends and watch, it’s lit.”

Cecil the Sagehen, the Pomona-Pitzer mascot, could not be reached by press time.

Out on the court, a variety of multi-colored basketball shoes could be spotted; they averaged about a 3 on a scale of 1-10 for styling.

However, more creative hair-styles and accessorizing would definitely have added some visual appeal to the game.

When asked why his team didn’t step up their aesthetics, CMS head coach Tom Jones said, “Um, that’s not really our focus right now.”

He declined to comment on the suggestion that required overshirts be included as part of the official team uniforms.

But now, back to the game itself — the ball kept going back and forth, and players kept stealing it from each other.

At one point, the ball bounced off the foot of a player, and the crowd cheered at the referees.

At 6:52 the scoreboard read 25-30 Pomona-Pitzer-CMS, and the Sagehens were feeling dis-couraged (although their facial expressions revealed little).

When asked how he remained so stable in a competitive, high-pressure game, Marty Martinez CM ’18 did not respond but did slightly narrow his eyes.

The game ended in a flash of blue, white, red, and orange.

The score was 35-60 PP-CMS, or possibly vice versa.